Yesterday afternoon John E. Bush took possession of the railroad depot at Pearl City, and soon after a crowd of natives composed mostly of women and boys gathered around him to learn what he a large barrel. Of course he talked against annexation but his remarks had but little effect on his hearers, as an eye-witness stated that there was a decided absence of enthusiasm. A majority of the Hawaiians who live at Pearl City wear annexation badges, so an effort is being made to win them over to the royalist side. Quite a number of people took a ride down to the Peninsula vesterday. The day was a fine one with the exception of a little while in the morning when a very heavy shower fell at Ewa Plantation.

During Saturday night or Sunday morning the office of the plantation was forced open by a thief. Some change amounting to about $4 was found in a drawer by the robber. He then turned his attention to the plantation store and after knocking things about, the thief departed without taking anything of value.

Art In Children's Toys.

The tendency to do everything better than formerly is again shown in the wonderful toy animals offered at fairs and exchanges.

In the infancy of this art rabbits and elephants of white and gray canton flannel, with shoe buttons for eyes and abnormally developed legs which yet often failed to support the stuffed bodies dependent upon them, were the highest specimens seen. Now, however, realistic animals, carefully fashioned had to say.
